

Home Connectivity Alliance and CABA announce collaboration to benefit the connected home sector

Beaverton, OR – December 12, 2022 – Home Connectivity Alliance (HCA), an organization dedicated to the development and promotion of safe and secure interoperability across long-life appliances, HVAC systems and TVs within the connected home ecosystem, announces an MOU agreement with CABA, the Continental Automated Buildings Association, to collaborate on research and marketing initiatives in the connected home sector.

“HCA wants to provide long-term value to the consumer by ensuring the appliances they invest in can interoperate with other devices in their connected home, providing a holistic view of the home’s energy usage to ultimately save the consumer money,” said Yoon Ho Choi, Home Connectivity Alliance President. “By aligning with organizations like CABA, we are connecting with other industry leaders to share resources and drive towards our common goals.”

“CABA is dedicated to the advancement of connected home and intelligent building technologies and supports many cross-industry initiatives,” said Greg Walker, CABA CEO. “We look forward to collaborating with HCA on our shared goals of interoperability and energy management within the connected home.”

About Home Connectivity Alliance

The Home Connectivity Alliance is a member-driven organization dedicated to the development and promotion of safe and secure interoperability across long-life appliances, HVAC systems and TVs within the connected home ecosystem. For more information, visit www.homeconnectivityalliance.org.

About CABA

CABA is an international not-for-profit industry association dedicated to the advancement of the connected home and intelligent building technologies. The organization is supported by an international membership of over 380 organizations involved in designing, manufacturing, installing, and retailing products relating to integrated home and building technology. Public organizations, including utilities and governments, are also members. CABA's mandate includes providing its members with networking and market research opportunities. CABA also encourages the development of industry standards and protocols while leading cross-industry initiatives. More information is available at www.CABA.org.

For more information, please contact:

Liz Nardozza / Kevin Gaboury
Home Connectivity Alliance PR
Telephone: +1 503.313.4309
Email: hca@nereus-worldwide.com

Marta Klopowska
Continental Automated Buildings Association (CABA)
Email: klopowska@caba.org